Detection of low virus-mRNA signals in reverse transcription-polymerase chain reaction: a method for sensitive analysis of N-myc oncogene amplification in neuroblastoma. Neuroblastoma is a common childhood cancer with diverse etiology. Amplification of the N-myc oncogene has been correlated with advanced stage disease and poor prognosis. Current protocols for tumor-gene detection include Southern blot analysis, quantitative PCR, and in situ hybridization. These methods are designed to detect the presence of a specific oncogene sequence and cannot detect low abundance RNA. We describe a simple strategy in which a polymerase chain reaction (PCR) mixture is added directly to intact tissue sections, allowing for the direct detection of signals generated by low levels of targeted N-myc messenger RNA. This protocol is a rapid, reliable, and specific method to detect low levels of targeted RNA. Sambara Sambara (or Sambara) may refer to: Sam Barer - an Indian film

Q: How do I calculate the mass of a star? We are asked to calculate the mass of a star, and each answer gives a different value. How do I calculate mass with the given values of density and volume?

A: There are two methods you can use. Fill in some equations: The mass  $M_*$  of a star is given by:
$$M_* = 4\pi \int_0^{R_*} r^2 \rho(r) dr$$
 The volume of a spherical star of radius  $r$  and density  $\rho(r)$  is

Q: Extracting data from a file in Python I've been working on a lab assignment for which I need to create a wordlist for the 'masters of some of the most elusive forms of communication: the computer. The idea is that our computer hackers have to make a list that contains the file names and extensions of the files they make with utilities. I was wondering if anyone could help me or point me in the right direction to do this. I am currently struggling with returning the command line arguments to Python to feed it to my function. I would appreciate any help and feedback. Thank you. Here's what I have so far:

def main(): """ Description: Create a list of files to be used by the hacker Returns: None """ parser = OptionParser() parser.add_option("-f", "--file", dest='file', action="store", type="string", help="the file to open") parser.add_option("-e", "--extension", dest='extension', action="store", type="string", help="the extension of the file to open") (options, args) = parser.parse_args() if len(args) == 0: file = open("none.py", "w") print >> file, "I'm a hacker!" file.close() else: file = open("none.py", "w") for i in
```

---

```
range(args): file.write("%s " % args[i]) file.close() return 0
main()
A: Something like this maybe import sys
import fileinput def main(): """
Description:
Create a list of files to be used by the hacker
Returns:
